COMES HERE TO STUDY MORMONS

Buddhist Priest From Japan Arrives in San Francisco.

IS ON HIS WAY TO SALT LAKE

IS PREPARING TO FIGHT MOR-MONISM IN ORIENT.

From the distant isle of Kui-siu

From the distant isle of Kui-siu, Japan, a Buddhist priest is traveling to Zion to study Mormonism and the Mormons. According to information from San Francisco, the priest arrived in that place last Monday, and is now there learning the English language there learning the English language before proceeding on his journey. The follower of Buddha is a small and intelligent Jap by the name of Tatsuo Yamazaki. He comes here to make his investigations, not for the purpos his investigations, not for the purpose of embracing the faith, but to provide himself with information that will enable him to better fight against the establishment of Mormonism in Japan. The visit of Yamazaki is a direct result of the appearance in Japan over a year ago of Apostle Heber J. Grant's party of missionaries, who went there to establish a mission in the land of chrysanthemums. From time immemorial the Japanese have worshiped morial the Japanese have worshiped at the shrine of Buddha, and when the party of Mormon missionaries invaded their island, bringing with them strange teachings of a strange religion, the Japanese were dubious about the new religion and the preachers of it. No strenuous objections were interposed to the preaching of the new religion in the island, but the Japanese, it is said, have neld aloof, waiting to investigate it before accepting it or raising a crusade against it. It is for this purpose that Yamazaki comes to Salt Lake.

To Learn About Mormons. The priest comes from Fukuoka, a seaport on the northwestern coast of Kui-siu. He proposes to remain in Salt Lake when he arrives here until he has learned enough about the Mor-mons and their faith to intelligently fight its progress in the land of his na-tivity. The information which Yamazaki expects to secure here he will take back to Hippon and disseminate among the priests of his religion. It is sald hat the Budding of the Mormons to introduce a sign of such strange teachings into their country, and that a crusade will in all probability be launched by the Buddhist priests against the Mormons.

Yamazaki arrived in San Francisco on the steamer Hongkong Maru, which arrived there last Monday. As yet he is unable to speak a word of English, it is said, and he proceeded to a Japanist the fenced and subfenced into three enclosures; young orchard: five-room frame house, barn and other outbuildings, in good condition. Price, $2,000; will take part trade in house and lot in city. Water right and improvements are worth the amount asked for the entire property.
